AWSS 5th BIENNIAL CONFERENCE: GENDER IN CONFLICT

The 5th Biennial Conference for the Association for Women in Slavic Studies took place April 1st and 2nd on the campus of University of Texas, Austin. Framed by the approaching 20th anniversaries of the fall of Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union, the conference was dedicated to the gender analysis of conflict—economic, political, social, military, cultural—in the origins, experiences and legacies of communist experiments in the former “Eastern bloc” states and the USSR.

Conference organizers Mary Neuburger (University of Texas) and Maria Bucur (Indiana University) brought together an impressive number of participants from disciplines across the general field of Slavic, Eastern European and Eurasian studies. Twenty-seven scholars from seventeen universities and five countries represented eleven disciplinary (and interdisciplinary) fields, including history, literature, law, journalism, public policy, anthropology, psychology. Collectively, the papers presented addressed over twelve countries and regions, including Albania, Bulgaria, Poland, Romania, Hungary, Russia, and the Balkans.

Conference goals included consideration of the usefulness of gender as a lens through which to examine conflict in the region; the degree to which ‘women’s issues’ remain as such, or whether there has been a scholarly shift in agenda and perspective in the last two decades to consider them more generally as ‘human issues’; and the ways in which the experiences of women (and men) might be nuanced so that they are seen as agents of transformation or even destruction, rather than “revictimizing” them as mere objects.

The cluster of connections that emerged among the papers made clear that those... questions remain vital ones, and fertile ground for continuing scholarship: from the move from victimization to agency (Bucur, West, Ghodsee, Hashamova, Azhgikhina); the recuperation of the legacies of progressive women (Ghodsee, Heczková, Saburova, Stoff, Azhgikhina, Harris); changing (and unchanging) gender roles in families and in couples (Kuzmic and Huston, Lodzięs and Malbasa, Wise, Musliu, Duda, Kolchevska and Bokovoj); identity formation (Linhardt, McCullough, Bucur, Saburova); politics and the body (Lalo, Brown, Neuberger, Severson, Chamberlin, Musliu); and gender and wartime experience (Stoff, Dzyadevych, Jug, Hashamova). (See program below for full names and paper titles.) In the keynote address, “Suffering and Survival: Gender in the Balkans Beyond State and Religion,” Yana Hashamova (The Ohio State University) masterfully wove all of these themes into her discussion of the changing image of ethnic, gender, and family conflict as projected in Balkan film of the socialist and post-socialist periods.

The organizers and AWSS would like to thank once again conference sponsors University of Texas (Austin), the Center for European Studies at UT, Indiana University (Bloomington) and Ohio State University (Columbus) for their generous support.

2011 AWSS AWARDS
Call for nominations and submissions

♀ Outstanding Achievement Award
The Outstanding Achievement Award recognizes the work of a scholar in the field of Slavic Studies who has also served as a mentor to female students/colleagues in this field. To nominate, please 1) write a letter detailing what your candidate for this award has achieved in Slavic Studies in terms of a) scholarship or other professional accomplishment and b) mentoring of female students/colleagues; and 2) provide a short list of references with accompanying email addresses so that the committee can contact these referees discreetly for further information. We’d recommend that this list include both peers and students/staff.

Please email materials by September 15th, 2011 to committee members Adele Lindenmeyr (chair) (adele.lindenmeyr@villanova.edu), Maria Bucur (mbucur@indiana.edu), and Karen Petrone (petrone@uky.edu).

♀ Mary Zirin Prize
This award of $500 is named for Mary Zirin, the founder of Women East-West. Working as an independent scholar, Zirin produced and encouraged fundamental works in Slavic/East European Women’s Studies and has been instrumental in the development of the AWSS. The Prize aims to recognize the achievements of independent scholars and to encourage their continued scholarship and service in the fields of Slavic or Central and Eastern European Women’s Studies.

The Zirin Prize Committee accepts nominations and self-nominations. Nominations must include: (1) a nomination letter of no more than two-pages double-spaced; (2) the nominee’s current curriculum vitae; and (3) a sample publication (e.g., article or book chapter). The nomination letter must describe the scholar’s contribution to the field as well as work in progress.

The Committee encourages the nomination of candidates at all career stages. For the purpose of this award, an independent scholar is defined as a scholar who is not employed at an institution of higher learning, or an employee of a university or college who is not eligible to compete for institutional support for research (for example, those teaching under short-term contracts or working in administrative posts). We welcome nominations from CIS and Central and Eastern Europe.

Nominations should be sent to Paula Michaels at paula-michaels@uiowa.edu, or by postal mail to Prof. Paula Michaels, 106 Hanford Rd., Chapel Hill, NC 27516 no later than August 1st, 2011

♀ Graduate Research Prize
The Graduate Research Prize is awarded biennially to fund promising graduate level research in any field of Slavic/East European/Central Asian studies by a woman –or– on a topic in Women’s or Gender Studies related to Slavic Studies/ East Europe/Central Asia by either a woman or a man. Graduate students who are at any stage of master’s or doctoral level research are eligible.

The grant can be used to support expenses related to completion of a dissertation, as well as travel, services, and/or materials. The award carries a cash prize of $1,000. Nominations and self-nominations are welcome. In addition to two letters of recommendation, please send a CV, a letter of application in which you outline how the money will be used and why it is necessary for progress on the project and, if appropriate, a list of archives and/or libraries or other research resources that you plan to use.

Completed submissions must be received by September 1st, 2011 by the committee chairperson, Nicole Monnier (recommenders may send their letters as emails OR as email attachments) at monniern@missouri.edu. NB: The AWSS Graduate Research Prize is awarded only every other year.

♀ Graduate Essay Prize
For a chapter or article-length essay in any field or area of Slavic/East European/Central Asian Studies written by a woman or on a topic in Slavic/East European/Central Asian Women’s/Gender Studies written by a woman or a man. This competition is open only to current doctoral students or to those who defended a doctoral dissertation in 2009-
2010. If the essay is a seminar paper, it must have been written during the academic year 2010-2011. If the essay is a dissertation chapter, it should be accompanied by the dissertation abstract and table of contents. Previous submissions and published materials are ineligible. Essays should be no longer than 50 pages, including reference matter, and in English (quoted text in any other language should be translated).

The award carries a cash prize of $250; the winner will be announced at the ASEEES national convention in November.

Please send a copy of the essay and an updated CV to each of the three committee members by September 1st, 2011.
